WHERE

The production cycle takes place completely inside of our factory. It begins from style office, to two/three-dimensional drawing, to different stages of prototyping, to mold making, to up to molding phase and to finishing and assembly process, handmade from skilled labor.

After reaching the selection department and quality check, packing is carried out and also the delivery of the articles, guarantee in this way the authentic of the real Made in Italy. Proud of its own Italian production, LABAM always gives a lot of importance of its Parmesan origin, making all of its products inside of its own headquarter of Montechiarugolo (Parma).

GREEN

LABAM's Green Sustainability.

Always attentive to sustainability, in the end of Seventies, we kept the chance to move on our factory in the actual headquarter of Basilicagoiano, to immerse the factory in a green area, making around it big green spaces, a lake and an area dedicated to culture of fruit trees, the whole available to the entire staff. In this way, we didn't create the typical mechanical workshop behind the factory, but that gave us the possibility to start waste management plan, in years when the meaning of the word "recycling" wasn't clear yet. To improve its own environmental impact, LABAM intervenes in the whole production cycle of its articles, minimizing the emissions, reducing the waste production and optimizing the processing and the available resources.
